

Kennedy To Deliver Major UN Policy Address Today

3 Servicemen Die In Air Crash

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Kennedy goes before the United Nations General Assembly Monday to deliver a major policy address that is expected to include a new U.S. disarmament plan—the first in 15 months.

In his speech to be broadcast over radio and television—(beginning at 10:30 a.m., Eastern Standard Time)—Kennedy also is expected to lay before the 98-nation assembly the U.S. position on such world problems as Berlin and the crisis in the United Nations arising from the death of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Kennedy has made it clear the United States will not accept the Soviet proposal to replace the Secretary-General with a three-man board on which the Communist bloc would have a veto. Kennedy will renew U.S. faith in a vibrant United Nations administered by a strong secretariat.

No Change

In regard to Berlin, U.S. officials recently have stressed the American position on Germany

Army Plans Rigid Training For Guardsmen, Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army figures National Guard and Reserve units now being called up will become "lean and mean" in less than half the time it took during the Korean War.

The Army said Sunday this is because reservists and guardsmen already have undergone tougher training than ever before and will really get a workout in physical conditioning, unit maneuvers, marksmanship and the like after they don uniforms during the next few weeks.

Cubans Hold 12 In Death Plot On Fidel

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government Sunday announced the arrest of a dozen counter-revolutionaries accused of plotting to kill Prime Minister Fidel Castro with bazookas and hand grenades supplied by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

An Interior Ministry communiqué charged the group had been supplied money and arms by the "Yanqui intelligence agency" to assassinate the bearded prime minister and promote terrorism and armed uprising inside the country in preparation for another invasion of Cuba.

The communiqué said the accused had prepared several plans to kill Castro with arms and ammunition received especially for that purpose from the United States. But it gave details of only one, which it said was the main plot. That was to ambush Castro as he was driving around Ciudad Deportiva Stadium on the outskirts of Havana.

From inside a garage across from the stadium, bazookas mounted on a jeep were to open fire on Castro and his escort while a car was to pull out of the garage and try to block the street, the communiqué said. Other plotters were to start throwing grenades at Castro from different points on the sidewalks, it added.

Castro frequently appears at the stadium for rallies and other ceremonies, but it also is on the main route to the airport and the government gave no hint as to what was supposed to have been the occasion for the ambush.

Notices Mailed For Eye Test

HARRISBURG (AP) — Notices are going out to 5,000 Pennsylvania motorists who will be required to take visual and physical examinations next month as part of the state's road safety program.

The State Revenue Department said over the weekend the notices will go to drivers whose operators' registration numbers range from 45,001 to 60,000. The number is located directly below the signature on the operator's permit.

The department said the licenses belong to older drivers.

The examinations are a resumption of tests inaugurated last year when 130,000 motorists were checked before tests were halted to give the Traffic Safety Bureau an opportunity to expand its facilities.

Angry Crowd Jeers Reds On Forcible Evacuations

BERLIN (AP)—The Communist people's police Sunday resumed the forcible evacuation of East Berlin homes close to the border dividing the city.

An angry crowd of West Berliners gathered on Bernauerstrasse on the Western side of the border and watched the operation with jeers and catcalls.

The Communist police threw tear and smoke bombs over the border to disperse the crowd. West German police grabbed many of the bombs and flung them back into East Berlin before they exploded.

Police officials in West Berlin said the operation began at 7 a.m. where the houses on Bernauerstrasse are in the Communist sector but the street outside is in the West. The first floor windows and all doors leading into the street were bricked up by the Communists weeks ago.

Woman Is Hurt

When the Communist police and trucks arrived, four East Berliners, including a woman, jumped from second-floor windows into the street in the French sector.

has not changed and that the West intends to maintain its rights in Berlin.

Kennedy also will discuss a ban on nuclear testing, which the United States is pushing as an issue apart from disarmament, over the objections of the Soviet Union.

Kennedy gave notice that a disarmament plan was coming when Presidents Modibo Keita of Mali and Sukarno of Indonesia visited him at the White House Sept. 13 to deliver a letter from the Belgrade conference of nonaligned countries. The conference asked Kennedy to negotiate world problems with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

In a letter to the two, Kennedy said the United States has developed "a comprehensive plan for general and complete disarmament"—wording the Soviet Union has used to its propaganda advantage since Khrushchev first proposed that goal to the assembly two years ago.

Reliable Procedures

The Kennedy letter said the plan, among other things, calls for "reliable procedures for peaceful settlement of disputes and maintenance of peace."

Serious Business

Underscoring the serious business on hand, the Army said time has been saved from the training cycle by eliminating some drills, ceremonies and formal inspections.

More than 120,000 Army Reservists and National Guardsmen have been ordered to active duty, along with about 33,000 Air Force and Navy reservists, in the build-up caused by the Berlin crisis.

For a man who may have been living a relatively sedentary civilian life, the physical conditioning will be rugged. It will stress exercises "designed to increase individual capabilities in long-distance walking, crawling and the 'dodge-and-run,'" the Army said.

While this is the age of the missile and the nuclear weapon, Army drillmasters believe it still is important for a foot soldier to be a crack shot. Thus, the incoming citizen-soldiers will have lots of target practice.

There will be an increase in night training and some units will be introduced to new electronic radar systems capable of spotting enemy movements at night, in heavy fog, and beyond the range of normal vision.

All of the units will be given special training to prepare them for possible operations in desert, jungle, mountain, or arctic regions.

Sumner Welles, Ex-Government Official, Dies

BERNARDSVILLE, N.J. (AP) — Former Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles died early Sunday at his wife's family home after an illness of about three weeks. He was 68.

Welles suffered a heart attack some years ago but the exact cause of his death was not announced. Welles died about 2 a.m.

Welles became assistant secretary of state under the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1933 and was promoted to undersecretary in 1937. He resigned in the summer of 1943 and had lived in virtual retirement since then.

He maintained a residence in Washington and a summer home in Bar Harbor, Maine. He had lived for many years in Oxon Hill, Md., just outside Washington.

Welles was credited with coining the phrase "Good Neighbor policy"—a phrase much in use even today describing the United States' proclaimed aim of cooperation with Latin and South American countries.

He generally is credited with selling the Good Neighbor policy to President Roosevelt after the latter took office in 1933.

As undersecretary of state, Welles was the No. 2 man in the chain of State Department command.

Castro To Speak

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro is scheduled to address a big rally in Revolution Square next Thursday. The rally will mark the first anniversary of the creation of committees charged with public watchdog functions.

The woman broke an ankle and was taken to a West Berlin hospital.

West Berlin fire trucks drove up in nearby side streets, and of sight of Bernauerstrasse, and firemen stood ready with escape nets in case others tried the jump to freedom. But armed people's policemen watched from the windows to prevent further escapes.

The evacuation was extended into the side streets of Bernauerstrasse, and police said it appeared that all homes to a depth of 100 yards from the border were being cleared.

Similar removals were reported from suburban Reinickendorf, facing the East Berlin residential district of Pankow where most of the Communist leaders have their homes. An East Berliner helping to strengthen the boundary wall in this district jumped over into the French sector early Sunday.

At the downtown border on Wilhelmstrasse and Friedrichstrasse workmen Sunday morning raised the concrete-slab boundary wall to a height of nearly seven feet, barring the view to pedestrians.

Another Republican view of Kennedy's achievements in the 87th Congress: "One of the worst legislative records in history."

Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., made this assessment Sunday in publishing a lengthy summary of what Congress did in the past nine months. Rhodes is chairman of the Republican Policy Committee's special projects subcommittee.

The Kennedy administration, Rhodes said, "suffered major defeats in agriculture legislation, its ill-advised and largely uncalculated school aid bill, and in a host of other proposals."

In many instances, it was forced to resort to the use of almost unconscionable pressure upon members of its own party in the Congress in order to pass some of its most cherished legislation," he added.

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — A plane carrying the Army's famed sky diving team aloft at an air show crashed and burned on take-off before thousands of horrified spectators Sunday.

Three servicemen were killed. Six sky divers and several news photographers were hurt.

The dead were identified as Sgt. Robert T. Turner, Capt. John E. Mackel and T.Sgt. John Lessio. Turner was stationed at Ft. Bragg, N.C., Mackel and Lessio at Nellis, Nev., AFB.

Six divers injured included Lt. James P. Pearson, who recently won the world skydiving championship competing against Russians and others in Europe. Other team members hurt were M. Sgt. John T. Hollis, Sgt. Joe E. Norman, Sgt. Wilfred J. A. Charrette, Spec. 4.C. Bobby Lebetter and Pfc. Robert McDonnell.

About 100,000 spectators at the airport saw the tragedy.

Uninjured others watched it over WECT-TV as the plane crashed in the middle of a runway.

"God, oh God," said the WECT-TV man narrating the show as the big plane went into a steep climb, stalled, and then slipped downward to the right and burst into flames.

The plane broke into two pieces. Crash and fire trucks using foam and water fought an hour to subdue the flames.

"The plane took off, gained altitude, leveled out, tried to get up again and couldn't," said William B. Daniels of the New Bern (N.C.) Sun-Journal, who watched the show on television. "It made a sort of belly-landing and caught fire."

Stubborn Fire

Daniels said three or four helicopters flew quickly to the scene. The wash from their rotors blew smoke and flames away while firemen and others removed the injured. The helicopters then took the casualties to a Wilmington hospital.

The most stubborn part of the fire was around the tail section. It was nearly 30 minutes before all the men could be extricated from the wreckage.

"No word can describe the coolness and efforts of the fire fighters," Daniels said. "They did a grand job."

Rescue workers and a fire-fighting unit from Seymour Johnson Air Force Base near Goldsboro, N.C., already here for the air show, went into immediate action.

The rest of the air show immediately was canceled. The show was the fourth annual Civil Air Patrol "Friendship Days."

Photographer Hurt

The Wilmington Star-News said one of its news photographers, Robert Lemoyne, suffered a broken nose and leg injuries.

Engineer Fred Cranford of WECT-TV, which telecast the show, said that station had three men on hand. Cranford said one of the three, James Craig, was only shaken up but that the other two, C. D. Martin and photographer John McNeill, were injured.

Capt. W. P. Leggett, information officer for the Myrtle Beach (S.C.) Air Force Base, said the manifest had not been found some two hours after the accident and that there was no certainty then who or how many the plane carried aloft. He said the plane was from the Nellis AFB.

Others listed as members of the sky-diving team, all from Ft. Bragg, N.C., were Sgt. William Edge and Spec. 1.C. Harold Lewis. Also on board was Lt. Douglas C. Runnels, who was to have acted as narrator during the show.

On the plane's door was the designation: pilot, Bill Maxey.

Half a dozen fire trucks battled the fire, which resulted from the plane's tanks breaking off and igniting.

Weary Congress Returns To Unexpected Extension

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress, sticking around longer than most members expected, could end its 1961 session any day now—possibly Monday but only if a Senate logjam is broken promptly.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., told a newsman Sunday, "I want to end it as soon

JFK Will Press For Full School Aid Next Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has told legislative leaders he will press in the next session of Congress for action on a full-fledged school aid bill. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Sunday.

Humphrey, the assistant Democratic leader, said also that the administration is not going to give up in its attempts to get through Congress next year a program for medical and hospital care for the aged.

While Humphrey found the record of the session which may end this week "very good," Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, New York Republicans, described it as "disappointing." Humphrey appeared on a television program taped by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., for Tennessee stations, Javits and Keating in New York programs.

Another Republican view of Kennedy's achievements in the 87th Congress: "One of the worst legislative records in history."

Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., made this assessment Sunday in publishing a lengthy summary of what Congress did in the past nine months. Rhodes is chairman of the Republican Policy Committee's special projects subcommittee.

The Kennedy administration, Rhodes said, "suffered major defeats in agriculture legislation, its ill-advised and largely uncalculated school aid bill, and in a host of other proposals."

In many instances, it was forced to resort to the use of almost unconscionable pressure upon members of its own party in the Congress in order to pass some of its most cherished legislation," he added.

Congress extended for two years federal aid for school districts implemental appropriations measure.

But the day members can leave town apparently depends largely on what sort of fight develops in the Senate over efforts to pass a bill involving stockholders of the giant Du Pont corporation.

Marking Time

The House, except for some minor legislation, is marking time awaiting Senate action. About all it has left to do is vote on the remaining Senate-House conference agreements. However, since so many members already have gone home, there is a question whether the House will be able to muster a quorum Monday.

Mansfield said he does not know whether the Senate will reach a vote on the controversial Du Pont bill or whether it will be put off until next year, as many opponents want. Mansfield said he doesn't want to keep Congress in town just to get a vote on that measure.

But Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican Senate leader, said he thinks there will be no adjournment until the Du Pont measure is acted upon. Strong—and perhaps lengthy—opposition is expected from Democratic forces led by Sens. Albert Gore of Tennessee and Paul Douglas of Illinois.

Ease Tax Burden

The bill, already passed by the House, would ease the tax burden on stockholders of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Co. who might receive General Motors stock under a Supreme Court order for Du Pont to get rid of its 63 million shares of GM stock.

Du Pont wants to comply with the antitrust order by distributing GM shares to its stockholders. Under present law, the stockholders would have to pay about $1 billion in income taxes. But under the bill before the Senate this payment would be cut to about $350 million.

The parliamentary snarl that developed Saturday left the Du Pont bill as the pending business when the Senate reconvenes Monday.

Good Morning!

The smartest person is not the one quickest to see through a thing, but to see a thing through.

Jet Skids Off Runway; All 71 Aboard Survive

BOSTON (AP) — A four-engine American Airlines Astrojet 707 carrying 71 people skidded off a runway Sunday and landed in a Boston Harbor mudflat.

No one was killed. Three persons were taken to hospitals with ailments described as non-serious. The No. 1 and 2 engines on the $5-million plane were torn off and the nose landing gear was damaged in the crash.

The flight was No. 44 from San Francisco via Chicago.

The pilot, Capt. Ted Jonson of San Francisco, gave this version of the incident: "I was making a normal approach. There was some fog. I landed on the runway a little farther up than I would have liked to and we skidded off the end."

The plane landed at the water's edge. There was no fire.

UAW Orders All Locals To Work

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union Sunday night ordered all of its striking locals to return to work in General Motors plants Monday.

At the same time the UAW's international executive board authorized a strike against Ford Motor Co. if and when the UAW's Ford department wishes to call a walkout. No strike deadline date was set.

There were five local unions holding out in support of at-the-plant working agreements. Meeting with GM negotiators, with UAW international officers in the position of mediators, the local union representatives gradually have whittled down disagreements.

The union summoned presidents and shop committeemen from 24 local unions which had not reached at-the-plant agreements to Detroit on Friday. Meeting with GM negotiators, with UAW international officers in the position of mediators, the local union representatives gradually have whittled down disagreements.

Negotiators from Pittsburgh and Anderson continued beyond the 24th hour marathon bargaining sessions which began at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Besides these key plants, others which have not reached at-the-plant agreements are:

Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac assembly, South Gate, Calif.; Fisher Body (which makes Chevrolet bodies), Atlanta, Ga., and Fisher Body Die and Machine, Detroit.

GM and the UAW reached agreement at the national level Sept. 6 on an economic package of wages and fringe benefits, which the union estimates is worth more than 12 cents hourly in take-home pay.

After that, the UAW filed Sept. 11 as a deadline for reaching agreement on non-economic national issues and authorized local unions to strike at that time if they had not reached new at-the-plant working agreements, which supplement the companywide contract.

Crippling local strikes erupted with passing of the deadline.

Blasts GOP Leader For Latest Talk

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey accused his Republican counterpart Sunday of irresponsibility and of trying "to make political capital out of a life-and-death international crises."

"It's dangerous. The Republican party ought to have better sense," Bailey said in a speech prepared for a Cuyahoga County Democratic rally.

Bailey said that Republican National Chairman William E. Miller, at a time when the nation is facing one of the most serious international crises in its history, chooses to tell the world that the United States has "failed" in Berlin, that President Kennedy is "vacillating" and must take the blame for the situation.

He said Miller's recent speeches attacking the administration's foreign policy are an attempt to "shake the confidence of the American people and divide them just for the hope of a few votes."

"I call that irresponsibility to the extreme, and I could put a worse name to it than that," Bailey said.

Bailey said he believes the explanation for the Miller attempt to bring foreign policy into the political arena lay in what he called "partisan obstruction" to Kennedy domestic programs for which he added, the GOP will have to answer to the voters.

"The line is being set," he added, "by the chairman of the Republican National Committee, a man whose years of experience in the Congress should have conditioned him to take a more responsible position on issues which previously have been spared from reckless and purely partisan campaigning."

The critical plants where local working agreements have not yet been wrapped up are:

Delco-Remy at Anderson, Ind., which makes starting, lighting and ignition systems, and the Fisher Body stamping plant at Pittsburgh, which makes pressed metal parts. All five car-making divisions of GM are dependent upon these two plants.

The four stewardesses immediately opened the emergency doors and helped lead passengers to safe ground. Many of the passengers walked along the plane's wing to the edge of the airport.

The plane carried 63 passengers and a crew of eight.

Man Collapses

One death reported as a result of the crash was that of Jack Luti, 50, of nearby Beachmont, who collapsed while assisting in rescue operations. He was pronounced dead later of what was diagnosed as a heart attack.

Two passengers and a stewardess were hospitalized. They are:

Charles Ivanc, 38, of 5311 40th Ave., Kenosha, Wis., who was taken to Boston City Hospital and discharged after treatment for rib bruises.

Lillian Rocheleau, 51, of Summer St., Westboro, Mass., who was taken to Massachusetts General Hospital and treated for what a spokesman described as a back strain.

Mrs. Rocheleau's husband also was on the plane.

One of the four stewardesses aboard the plane, Miss Sheila Honan of Lowell, Mass., was taken to Winthrop Community Hospital for X rays, although there were no outward signs of injuries.

Stewardesses Credited

Three other stewardesses, Misses Donna Sinner, Connie Forbes and Bernice Hildebrand, were among the crew of eight. All four women were credited with preventing hysteria after the plane landed right-side-up on the edge of Winthrop Channel.

Rose Maddox, who said she was riding in the first class section of the plane, told newsmen there was no panic.

"We were coming in for a landing," she said, "and the wheels seemed to touch the ground when I heard what sounded like a tire blowout. Then the plane bounced and the next thing we were in the water."

The water is not deep at this point of impact and witnesses said rescue boats were alongside the plane almost immediately.

The stewardesses said all passengers and crew members had seat belts fastened for the landing when the plane jolted to a sudden halt.

Among the passengers was Eleanor Chick of Medfield, Mass., and her three children, aged 6, 7, and 11.

The site of Sunday's crash is within a few feet of where an Eastern Air Lines Electra plane hit with the loss of 62 lives just a week short of a year ago.

Owners of four small boats from the Orient Heights Yacht Club went out to the stranded airliner and brought the majority of those aboard back to the club.

Pilot Misses Boy In Crash At Pottstown

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A pilot whose single engine plane failed Sunday brought the craft down in a heavily populated section of nearby Stowe, endangering his own life to avoid hitting a 12-year-old boy.

The pilot, Lewis E. Emery, of Pottstown R.D. 1, was hospitalized and his plane was badly damaged as he flew under a 25-foot high electric wire and a wing clipped a house before the craft smashed into a tree.

Police said Emery's flying was an expert piece of airmanship and the mother of the boy, Bobby Grogan, said she thought Emery "Wouldn't have hit the tree" if he didn't veer off to avoid hitting the boy.

Emery had taken off from Pottstown Airport in his Piper Tri-Pacer and was 500 feet in the air when the engine failed. He headed for a small field in Stowe and was gliding down when he saw the youngster.

Three Scouts Are Honored With Awards

MOUNTAINHOME — Scouts Thomas Conley, Ellsworth Machin III and Elwood Johnson, Jr. were honored during the second morning worship service of the Mountainhome Methodist Church, Sunday, September 10.

They received the God and Country Awards. Thomas Conley, son of Mrs. Ethel Conley and Elwood Johnson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Johnson, are in Troop 89, Barrett, under the leadership of Robert Weidner and Ivan Wicks.

Ellsworth Machin III son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Machin Jr., Bethlehem, is a member of Troop 2, Bethlehem, under the leadership of Raymond Snyder.

The boys have completed a year's course of study in scouting, work in the church and helping at home. They have been held responsible for their actions and have passed the required examinations.

Rev. John Carter spoke on the purpose of the award and chose "The Gleaner" as his sermon theme.

Funds For Pa. Projects Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed Saturday a $3,940,926, 880 public works appropriation bill. It carries funds for hundreds of flood control, navigation and reclamation projects, including several in Pennsylvania.

Except for a difference with the House on appropriations for the Curwensville Reservoir in Pennsylvania, the Senate retained all the suggested money requests for Keystone State projects.

The House recommended $750,000 for Curwensville, the Senate voted $1,250,000.

Board To Meet

State Funds Allocated For Stroud Union School District

Record Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG — Under approval given last Friday by the State Council of Education, Stroud Union School District will receive a total of $3,109.17 from state funds to pay part of the cost of structural changes to two of the district's schools to comply with state fire hazard regulations.

Approved for payment was a sum of $2,062.23 to cover part of the cost of changes to Delaware Water Gap elementary school and $1,046.94 to apply to costs of meeting regulations in Morey elementary school in Stroudsburg.

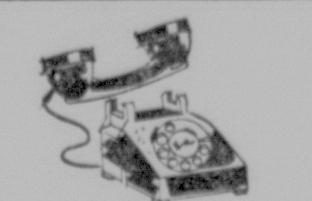

Payments to the local school district will be made from an appropriation of $889,650 by the Legislature to the state school fund to aid school districts in meeting costs of eliminating fire hazards in school buildings in accordance with orders from the State Department of Labor and Industry.

Total cost of making the necessary changes to comply with state orders in the Delaware Water Gap school was placed at $4,124.46. Cost of compliance at Morey school was indicated to be $2,063.88.

State Reports $31 Million Spent On Monroe Co. Roads

Record Harrisburg Bureau
HARRISBURG, Sept. 23 — More than $31 million has been spent on state highways in Monroe County during the past ten years, the Record Harrisburg Bureau learned today in a check with the State Department of Highways. This figure — actually $31,336,130.16 — involves construction and reconstruction work performed by either departmental employees or contractors, resurfacing of existing roads within the county, and maintenance work on highways in the county including snow removal, culverting, oiling, weed cutting, patching and similar maintenance chores.

Biggest year on the highway expenditure front in Monroe County was the fiscal year ended May 31, 1960, according to department figures. In that year expenditures totaled $6,516,794.99. Expenditures in other years in the county were as follows:

Fiscal year 1951-52 — $972,791.43; 1952-53 — $3,375,952.96; 1953-54 — $1,923,254.43; 1954-55 — $2,213,925.94; 1955-56 — $2,458,105.78; 1956-57 — $2,272,614.11; 1957-58 — $2,221,810.27; 1958-59 — $6,176,880.65; 1959-60 — $5,204,053.90.

Last year construction and reconstruction work in the county involved expenditure of $1,263,881.18; resurfacing work, $160,140.72; and maintenance, including snow removal and surface treatment, $780,032.

As a point of comparison, the preceding year showed construction and reconstruction work in the county at $5,686,738.16; resurfacing — $150,856.01 and maintenance — $679,205.92.

The ten-year $31 million expenditure figure for the county incidentally does not include direct semi-annual payments to communities within the county under terms of Act 655, the "Home Rule Act," which covers state funds to boroughs and townships for their own road work.

Pocono Area State Liquor Store Robbed

MOUNT Pocono State Police are investigating the robbery of the Pennsylvania State Store in Mountaintown which occurred Saturday between 10:05 and 10:45 p.m. when an undetermined amount of money was taken from the store safe.

Vere Newhart, manager of the store, told police that he left the store Saturday night and went home to shower, change clothes and go out for the night.

When he left his home and got in the car, a man who had been hiding on the floor of the back seat ordered him to drive to the store and open the safe.

Once at the state store, the door was opened and they went inside. It was at this point the robber directed him to open the safe. The robber left with the money.

Newhart told police that he did not see the other man and could give them no description.

Detectives from Hazleton were called in and the crime was reconstructed, fingerprints were taken and an investigation began.

Loses Arm In Bus Accident

MARYSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Six passengers were injured, one losing an arm, when a Greyhound bus smashed into the rear of a sedan on a curve on Routes 11-15 Saturday.

The bus, after the crash, careened into heavy steel girders that flank the highway to prevent rock and snow slides.

Mrs. Evelyn Wyeenga, 59, of New York City, was pinned in her seat by the collision. Doctors had to amputate her right arm, while she remained conscious. The arm had been nearly torn off in the crash.

Among those hurt was the bus driver, Albert Dean, 33, of Pittsburgh.

99 OUT OF EVERY 100 OIL FURNACE OWNERS ARE WASTING OIL ARE YOU ONE OF THEM?

It's quite possible... but it's not your fault or the fault of your oil burner. Because until about two years ago there just wasn't a residential oil burner on the market that accurately generated and controlled the supply of air for combustion. Chimney height... erratic wind conditions... firebox temperatures... loss of heat up the stack... ALL were varying factors which caused inefficient firing and high fuel bills.

Now users report savings up to 33%—and even more—with a new oil furnace developed by Iron Fireman

This amazing new Iron Fireman furnace is called the CUSTOM Mark II. It generates its own combustion air supply. Utilizing Volumetric Combustion, it burns oil vapor and the oxygen in the air in just the right proportions for smokeless firing. The fire starts clean and burns clean, with no soot or smoke. With clean electrodes, nozzle and interior heating surfaces, the causes of most service calls are eliminated.

Stop paying for heat you're not getting! Let us show you how much an Iron Fireman CUSTOM Mark II can save for you. Phone for a free folder giving complete information. No obligation whatever.

Vandalism

In recent days, a number of cases of vandalism have been reported in the area. A number of them have concerned homes being built, and the damage caused has run into thousands of dollars. In some cases the damage is not able to be repaired or eradicated, necessitating the tearing out of walls, etc., and starting off from scratch.

Apparently the destruction is the work of children and youths, and the matter of apprehension of the offenders is in the hands of police. It is interesting to note, however, that when such vandals are caught by the police their parents always feign surprise and disbelief that their children would do such a thing.

Actually the cause of such vandalism can be traced to two things: First, there is a lack of basic training in respecting the person and property of others in the child. Second, the parents are not cognizant of the whereabouts of their children at all times. Check the facts the next time you read a story about vandalism by youths, and we'll wager that in practically all of the cases the answer will be the same.

Police reporters and editors are very familiar with the scene where tearful parents recite: "But Johnny is a good boy. He never gets into any trouble." It happens every day, but there is Johnny's name on the police blotter in mute testimony to the contrary.

Parents should instill in their children a deep respect for the property of other people, and they should know approximately where their children are at all times. Observance of these two things will avoid a lot of misery for the parents, as well as the victim of vandalism.

There is an old adage "As the twig is bent, so the tree grows." It is as true today as when it was coined.

Neglected Park Programs

Among the most glaring omissions in Harrisburg this year have been the failure of Governor Lawrence to take leadership, and the failure of the Legislature to take action, on the various proposals before them to improve and strengthen Pennsylvania's program for acquiring park and open space land.

These omissions are all the more apparent because of the constructive action along these lines which has been taken this year in several other states and in Washington.

There can be only two possible results from this inactivity: either Pennsylvanians will be condemned to inadequate parks, recreation and open spaces, or they will have to pay much more for them at some future date than they would now have to.

The proposals and their apparent fate:

1. A referendum on a $70 million bond issue to finance acquisition of park and open land proposed by the State Planning Board and endorsed by Secretary of Forests and Waters Maurice K. Goddard. This is much like recent programs which have met with, or are meeting with, widespread public approval in New York, New Jersey and Wisconsin. The necessary endorsement from Governor Lawrence has not been forthcoming.

2. Senate Bill 598 authorizing the state or municipalities to acquire conservation easements by various means including condemnation. This would be a valuable weapon to supplement the land acquisition program and would permit the reservation of land at minimum cost for future acquisition. This bill was amended on second reading in the Senate on July 7 to knock out the condemnation provisions, thus severely weakening the bill.

3. Senate Bill 651 which would strengthen Pennsylvania's outdated and often contradictory planning and zoning codes and facilitate the procedures by which communities may plan for open or recreation space. This bill has been locked in the Senate's Committee on Local Government since it was introduced on May 2, and it looks as though it will die there.

The Adenauer Crisis

The lessening of the majority of Konrad Adenauer may be due to many causes, one of which could be his age. Younger generations are resisting the control of their lives by men in their 80's. Another reason could have been the intervention of Soviet Russia in the affairs of Germany, although the trend in West Germany has been to the right. Russia has intervened directly in the German election by bringing on the Berlin crisis just in time.

The important question, from the American standpoint, is what effect this election will have on the relations of West Germany with France. The Adenauer-De Gaulle combination has been extraordinarily stabilizing in the political and economic affairs of Europe. The Common Market is a product of their co-operation and, from the economic standpoint, the Common Market is the most constructive development in Europe since that continent's miseries started in 1912. There can be little doubt but that the Common Market will continue and grow larger and stronger, but will De Gaulle's influence be as great in Europe after the departure of Adenauer? Or will De Gaulle be forced by circumstances to overcome the British trend toward defeatism by going it alone? Could this mean a type of Napoleonism?

These are the essential problems in Adenauer's defeat. Germany is the heart of Europe. It represents the Western European spirit. Whereas Great Britain, until now, was the center of a complex of Europe, Asia, Africa and North America, its position in the world now is uncertain. The great British colonies are no longer dependent upon British leadership. India, Egypt, South Africa, the jewels of the Empire, have become independent of and even antagonistic to the British crown. At the Belgrade Conference, however, both Nehru and Nasser displayed a change of heart, a trend away from Soviet domination. Tito and Sukarno were, however, more Kremlins than usual.

These tendencies are interesting but not clear. They are not clearer to the great men who have to make decisions than they are to us. They are movements in certain directions, but whereas the motions are visible, the directions are not certain.

Ceiling Zero

By Mason Denison (First Of Two Parts)

Harrisburg — Things certainly are going to the dogs at Mansfield State College up in Tioga County! Just how "doggy" things are at this state-owned institution of higher learning—supported financially in part by Pennsylvania's taxpayers—unquestionably is worthy at least of just passing note.

Perhaps it's worth more — we think so; so much so in fact that we suggest that the current Lawrence Administration take a peek at itself through its State Department of Justice.

"It seemingly would be worthy of a legislative investigation — to give it that touch of impartiality and to avoid the absurd situation of a governmental unit 'investigating itself' — but there are those who insist the Legislature should not remain 'in being' but adjourn as quickly as possible and go home. That it did this year, so there's nothing the Legislature can do in this instance. It has already killed itself!"

As for Mansfield State College and its "doggy" outlook on life — let it be clearly understood that what this column brings out in this and the succeeding column has nothing to do with the college academically. Its stature as an institution of higher learning—academically, faculty-wise or insofar as its student body is concerned — are not at point nor at issue.

Back to the "doggy" part. On state time, at state expense, with state workers, and state materials — the "craftsmen" at this state college fashioned a dog house for the president of Mansfield (not to be confused with the president to retire to personally).

This was a dog house built for a pooch — at the request of the college president. The pooch for which the abode was being built must have been a super-pooch though, for look at these (sworn) facts:

It took the carpenter assigned to the "project" more than a dozen working hours to build the thing. Two painters were assigned by the superintendent of grounds to paint the dog house; it was sanded and painted with two coats of paint — by state employees, on state time and with state materials. The dog house has a removable masonry roof, no less, plus a partition to serve as a wind breaker — and a peek-a-boo window (what a dog's life!).

Oh yes — there was a miniature TV antenna on top! We don't think anyone will particularly begrudge a college president acquiring the necessities of life — even at taxpayer expense! — but how "essential" is a dog house, an item obviously for personal use? Seemingly it would be up to the college president to go out and buy a dog house (at much less cost obviously) at his own expense.

All this incidentally happened about a year ago — but there is a more current sequel to the affair.

The college employee who did the work on the deluxe "residence" was fired about two months ago. Why? We're quoting now from the letter of dismissal:

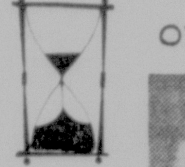

"In view of the malfeasance of your actions in the use of state equipment, materials and supplies for your own personal use you are hereby suspended . . ." (subsequently dismissed as of July 18).

The "malfeasance" was not for the dog house work but because he repaired two personal chairs on his own time, incidentally at the institution, which consisted of (a) making a rung from a piece of wood from a scrap pile, and using glue, and (b) gluing together parts of a second personally-owned chair!

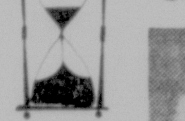

An enlargement of the dog house might well be in order!

Try and Stop Me

A pair of young marrieds, determined to go to a drive-in movie despite their failure to find a baby sitter, took the baby along. The manager of the drive-in took a dim view of this procedure, and warned the couple that if the baby started howling he'd have to refund the price of their tickets and ask them to get out.

After a few minutes of the feature picture, the husband whispered, "Horrible, isn't it?" "Worst I've ever seen," agreed the wife. "Okay," said the husband, "Pinch the baby!"

They were reading a cranky old plutocrat's will, and nobody listened more intently than his spendthrift, loose-living nephew. Finally the lawyer reached the clause concerning said nephew. It went like this: "To my disrespectful nephew Wilbur, whom I promised to remember: Hi, there, Wilbur!"

"Times sure have changed," mourned a politician voted out of office in 1960. "Once we were called extravagant for sending free seeds to farmers. Now we pay 'em a fortune for crops they never even planted."

Arnold Grant describes one Hollywood marriage that went on the rocks so quickly the lawyers are still fighting over the wedding presents.

Joe Consolino, New England spaghetti king, has a perfect way to stop women customers from grumbling about prices, and comparing them with the going rates in the good old days. "Why, madam," croons Consolino with a look of great surprise, "I didn't think you were old enough to remember those times."

Listen to these words of wisdom from Louisiana's perspicacious Paul Harvey: "If Uncle Sam is ever disgraced and destroyed in the eyes of the world, it'll be because he was lured astray by a low-necked, short-skirted, rose-scented, over-dressed hussy named 'Something for Nothing.'"

About Town

Hogs, sheep and cattle have been safeguarded against useless drugs since 1913 and now Secretary of H.E.W. Abraham Ribicoff suggests in emphatic terms that American men, women and children are entitled to the same protection. You can register your feelings by writing to the Secretary in Washington.

In case you are at loss for a conversational topic during your next cook-out, local apple growers are spraying their trees with a hormone solution which regulates the growth and keeps the apples from dropping. This is standard practice and results in superior apples.

In case you want to know what a "hootenanny" is, they held one last Saturday at Carnegie Hall. (A program of way-out folk music.)

A fellow we know, taking a course in deep breathing to expand his muscles, will graduate shortly with an essay on "Why I Became a Spreading Chest Nut."

The Allen-Scott Report

A One-Man State Dept.

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington, September 25 — Richard Goodwin, 29-year-old White House "expert" on Latin America, is still operating like a one-man State Department.

He is carrying on his own secret negotiations with Communist leaders in Cuba despite howls of protest from the State Department.

Goodwin, who held a "chance" meeting with Ernesto (Che)

Guevara, Castro's Communist economic czar, in Argentina last month, had an unannounced rendezvous with Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, editor of the Communist newspaper Hoy.

Neither Goodwin nor Rodriguez are talking about their mysterious meeting although it has already produced some very explosive results.

For instance, Rodriguez, on returning to Havana, narrowly escaped assassination by a group of assassins that shot up his car while he was traveling along the Via Blanca.

The Castro government blames the Central Intelligence Agency for the attempt on Rodriguez's life. However, reliable U.S. intelligence sources claim that the assassins were anti-Castro underground fighters.

Word of the Goodwin-Rodriguez meeting has caused a group of responsible Senators to consider the recall of Goodwin for a second round of questioning on his "one-man" foreign policy operations.

A Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee headed by Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., already has questioned Goodwin about his meeting last month with Ernesto (Che) Guevara, Castro's Communist economic czar, at the recent Inter-American Economic Conference at Punta del Este, Uruguay.

"Chance" Meeting—During the private Morse inquiry, Goodwin passed off his conference with Guevara as a "chance" meeting when both men met at a diplomatic reception.

However, Goodwin's follow-up meeting with Rodriguez, along with new evidence that the conference with "Che" was anything but a chance get-together is causing the senators to take another look at Goodwin's activities.

One senator's inquiry at the White House brought back word from President Kennedy that Assistant Secretary Robert Woodward is the "responsible officer" on Latin American Affairs.

Meanwhile, at the State Department an aide to Woodward reports that "the situation is intolerable. Something is going to have to give pretty soon." He reports that Goodwin continues to take on problems of Latin America which bypass the State Department and come directly to him.

Note: Rodriguez, a Havana University professor, is the senior official of the Integrated Revolutionary Organization (the nucleus of Cuba's new, single party) in addition to being editor of Hoy.

Delaney's Surprise — Representative James Delaney, whose unyielding opposition in the Rules Committee blocked House consideration of the Administration's $2.5 billion education bill, is planning to introduce his own federal aid bill in January.

The Brooklyn Democrat is drafting a bill that provides $20-a-year in federal aid for every elementary and high school student in the country.

Under its provisions, the money will be paid by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare to the school or school district where the pupil attends. Both public and private schools will be eligible to receive the aid.

In discussing his bill with other members, Delaney is making it clear that he was never opposed to federal aid to education.

"My only concern was to see that every American, regardless of his religion or race, benefited from the program," says Delaney. "The Administration's bill was designed to help only one group of students. My bill will help all students."

Delaney plans to personally ask President Kennedy to support his legislation.

Behind The Scenes — Representative George Miller, D-Calif., new chairman of the House Space Committee, is urging President Kennedy to put the Nike-Zeus anti-missile into production immediately. He warns the President that if that isn't done the Russians will have an operational anti-missile missile years before the U.S. If that happens, Miller says, the Soviets will have a new weapon to blackmail the U.S. . . . Russia is conducting a gigantic gun-running traffic to Africa from Communist Baltic ports. U.S. intelligence agencies have detailed information on 30 arms ship sailings in the past two months from the East German port of Rostock, the Polish ports of Stettin and Gdynia, the Soviet port of Pillau, near Kaliningrad. This Communist gun-running has increased tremendously in recent weeks. The magnitude of the Baltic-based Communist gun-running is far greater than any requirements in the Congo. U.S. intelligence officers evaluate the volume of arms traffic as meaning that Russia intends trying to sow rebellion and civil strife throughout Africa. The arms being sent are cast-off Communist weapons from Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia. Most of them date back to World War II.

Inside You And Yours

Your Retirement Ceiling Is Low

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

Retiring? Remember, green mountains can turn your lips blue, your stomach green and your face gray!

Forget about living high — if you're living on social security!

As you climb up mountains, the barometer falls and air thins. You have to breathe harder. Your heart has to beat faster and stronger, too.

Ten or fifteen thousand feet up, your chest heaves as you huff and puff for breath. Your stomach feels queasy and your heart thumps like a syncopeated tom-tom. Your head throbs.

Blue And Gray: Wozy and weak, you look gray, except for those blue lips! Seated safety-belted airline passengers never know this trouble. They don't race about like mountain folks.

As the barometer falls, gases expand and intestines blow up like a big balloon.

Your body tries its best. It manufactures extra millions of oxygen-carrying red cells that thicken blood into sticky syrup. These cells hurt more than they help. Thin mountain air can't fill them with oxygen. And overstuffed with blood, they trespass into lung space usually reserved for air. The heart has to strain to pump this syrup throughout the body.

Mountain people — born and bred in the hills — are accustomed to living in thin air. Chemical changes help their blood carry extra oxygen. With huge greyhound-like chests, they inhale extra air.

Coastal and plain-loving citizens aren't used to high living. Your heart, lungs and circulation determine your ceiling altitude.

Comfortable Height: Some victims of heart and lung disease have to gasp for air at sea level. Others, who just make the grade, find themselves in trouble at only 4,000 or 5,000 feet. In perfect health, you can live comfortably 8,000 or 10,000 feet up.

Retirement plans have to look forward to possible heart or lung trouble. If it's all the same, why not stay down to earth and let the youngsters play king of the mountain?

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' question in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

World Series Vignettes

World Series Vignettes

The Band Played On: The World Series between Pittsburgh and Detroit (in 1909) was a year that music, muscle and talent produced a Pirate championship. The series was tinged with threats, punches and broken bones. The threats were touched off by the late Ty Cobb who stood at first and yelled to Pirate shortstop Honus Wagner: "Hey, Kraut Head, I'm coming down on the next pitch." Cobb kept his promise and raced for second. Wagner tugged him out and Cobb needed three stitches to sew up his lip. Before the series was over, a Detroit runner flattened Pirate Bill Abstein in a close play at first with a punch to the stomach; the Pirate second baseman, Jack Miller, was cut in the head and leg by flying spikes, and Pirate third baseman Bobby Byrne banged into George Moriarty of the Tigers so hard that Bobby broke his ankle. Detroit fans also got into the act. Before the final game of the seven-game series, they hired three bands to play in front of the Pirate hotel all night to keep the Pittsburgh players awake. The Pirates got wind of the plan and spent the night at a tavern, along the lake shore and, well-rested, took the clincher, 8 to 0.

Shoeshine Boy: Nippy Jones' shoeshine was a major factor in Milwaukee's 1957 victory over the Yankees. Behind 5 to 4 in the bottom half of the tenth of the fourth game, Jones, a utility infielder, was sent up to bat for Warren Spahn. The first pitch was low, Umpire Augie Donatelli called the pitch a ball and Jones did a jig. He insisted that the ball had hit him on the top of his right foot. Augie stood his ground. Jones then retrieved the ball and pointed out the shoe polish smudge to Donatelli, who then ordered him to first. The Braves made Jones' slick shoeshine payoff. Johnny Logan doubled in the tying run and Eddie Mathews followed with a homer. Lew Burdette then was a victor in two of the next three games, giving Fred Haney's Braves the championship.

We Want Beer: Perhaps the most shameful episode in World Series history occurred during Prohibition in the third game of the 1931 series between the old Philadelphia A's and the Cardinals. The culprits were the majority of the 32,265 fans. The victim was President Hoover who had come up to the City of Brotherly Love to see the tilt. When the President and Mrs. Hoover stepped into their box, someone boomed. Within seconds the entire park reacted. Boos and the Bronx cheer echoed throughout Shibe Park. Then the boos changed to a chant and from thousands of voices came the cry: "We want beer. We want beer. We want beer." This was the first time a President had ever been booed in a major league park.

The Idol of Tampa: The popularity of White Sox pilot Al Lopez is attested to in that when he led Chicago into the 1959 series he was the only major league manager with a ball park named after him . . . The Al Lopez Stadium in Tampa, Fla. . . . Lopez, perhaps, got the biggest thrill of his young life when he was permitted to catch the exhibition game when the "Big Train" and his Washington club visited Tampa. When the game was over, Johnson patted the then 16-year-old boy on the back and told him: "You're going to make a great catcher some day." Clark Griffith, however, turned him down as a Senator catching prospect because he thought he was too small.

Fresh Fruit: Ducky Medwick is perhaps the only man who was ever forced to leave a World Series game because of apples, oranges and other fruit and vegetables. Baseball Commissioner Landis ordered the Cardinal slugger benched in the seventh and final game of the 1934 series to save him from possible injury with Detroit when angry Tiger fans showered Medwick with a variety assortment of edibles. The barrage was in retaliation for Medwick's slugging slide which bowled over Tiger third baseman Marv Owen and helped Dizzy Dean take the championship, 11 to 0.

Series Potpourri: The recently-published World Series Encyclopedia, 3,400,000 copies of which the Gillette Safety Razor Company is distributing as a sales premium, notes that 1,136 players have appeared in 336 World Series games from 1903 to 1960.

'Locked-In' Situations

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

Q. I was very disappointed by your recent column, in which you stated that a person who buys stock at a low price and sees that stock rise to a higher price can't do much about his "locked-in" tax situation. You said that when an investor sells stock at a profit he has to pay a capital-gains tax on that profit.

There is so something that can be done. (You've guessed it, I'm a mutual fund saleswoman.) One of my clients is a 70-year-old woman. Until I straightened out her affairs, she owned stocks in two companies. She needed money to live on each month. If she had sold those stocks, she would have had to pay a huge capital-gains tax on her profits.

So, I had her exchange her shares for one of the newly-organized mutual funds, a "swap fund." As you should know, she could do this without paying any capital-gains tax. All she paid was a small commission. In the near future she will exchange the shares of that fund for the shares of another mutual fund. This second mutual fund has a monthly withdrawal plan. She will receive a check every month. And she hasn't paid a dime in taxes. What do you say to that?

A. Shame on you! You either are blissfully ignorant or are cheerfully ignoring the Federal tax laws.

There was nothing wrong with the first move—the one through which your customer exchanged her individual stocks for shares of one of the "swap mutual funds." She could do that and not pay any capital-gains tax.

That was all perfectly legal. The Internal Revenue Service

Katanga Only A Chapter In Turbulent Congo Crisis

EDITOR'S NOTE—What's next in Katanga? Andrew Borowiec, a veteran AP reporter of the African scene, outlines the prospects and details the history of the secessionist Congo state in the following analytical dispatch.

By ANDREW BOROWIEC
ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—The precarious cease-fire in turbulent Katanga has closed one chapter of the Congo drama. Other, perhaps more tragic stages, appear ahead.

The eight-day combat of United Nations forces against Katanga troops aided by Belgians and other whites was the most trying episode in the 14-month U.N. effort to bring peace and stability to the Congo.

The United Nations used force to end the secession of defiant Katanga—and met unexpected resistance, mainly by whites backing Katanga's independence.

Today, both sides are holding their positions in an uneasy cease-fire which could be shattered by one act of provocation.

"We are sitting on a powder keg," grimly admitted a high U.N. official.

It is a rudderless United Nations which is facing its gravest crisis in the Congo. The death of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld has deprived the international task force of an effective and authoritative leader.

The U.N. action in Katanga stemmed from a seven-month-old U.N. General Assembly resolution calling for an end to Katanga's secession.

The U.N. special representative in Katanga, Conor Cruise O'Brien of Ireland, now feels he cannot take any further efficient action without new instructions by the Security Council.

Will the United Nations authorize further use of force for its "task force of peace" to break Katanga's resistance? Or will it withdraw in the face of Katanga's defiance, losing prestige and prolonging indefinitely the Congo crisis?

In this battered Katanga capital, where life is beginning to return to normal along the tree-shaded avenues, no one appeared to have the answer.

"I am executing orders," said O'Brien, a dark-haired 6-footer. The Katangans have called him a liar and double-crosser. He shrugs off the insults and continues his work, which he describes as implementing U.N. decisions in the Congo.

Facing O'Brien is President Moise Tshombe of Katanga, who on July 11, 1960, proclaimed Katanga independent from the rest of the Congo.

Since then, Tshombe has successfully resisted all efforts to bring Katanga back into the fold of the central Leopoldville government—and with it the wealth of its copper, cobalt and uranium mines.

In the past year, with the help of private Belgian interests and advisers, Tshombe has successfully organized his state. He issued money, collected taxes from the fabulously wealthy Union Minière, exploited the mines, and organized a tough little army of about 10,000 men, which he called a gendarmerie, or police force.

Belgian professors set up a university in Elisabethville and 200,000 Katangan children were going to schools manned by Belgian teachers.

European settlers who fled in the early postindependence days had returned to their sprawling villas surrounded by well-mown lawns and red and purple bougainvillea bushes.

Katanga's white population now is nearly 15,000—only a few thousand short of the preindependence figure.

Most Belgians feel life can continue to be pleasant and earnings high only if Katanga remains independent with pro-Belgian Tshombe as its head. Unification with the rest of the Congo could bring only chaos and a collapse of economic activity, the settlers reason.

That is why they rallied to Tshombe when Katanga independence appeared menaced.

When shots rang out in Elisabethville on the clear dawn of Sept. 13, a number of Belgians and other Europeans took to the rooftops and windows with their arms.

Named In $50,000 Suit

TWO Monroe County residents have been named defendants in a $50,000 suit filed by a New Jersey couple.

The two are William H. Warner, Stroudsburg, and George C. Henry, Stroudsburg RD 3. They were named defendants in a Federal Court suit seeking damages of $50,000. It was filed by Alfred and Mary Wasmucky, of Ironia, N.J.

The suit stems from an auto accident on Route 611 last Dec. 26. Plaintiffs, who allege they suffered serious injuries, are represented by Atty. William D. Morgan.

BARRETT — The Barrett Democratic Men's Club met recently at the Barrett Elementary School. A good sized crowd of club supporters were in attendance, it was reported.

Warren Loney, Democratic candidate for county treasurer, was principle speaker. He expressed his satisfaction for the manner in which the men's club is striving to turn over to him the full (Sam Everitt) Democratic vote, in Barrett.

John Foelker, candidate for county coroner, in his remarks was very well pleased to have the enthusiastic support of this lively, new-blooded and revitalized democratic men's club. President Noone reiterated the strong importance of supporting a straight Democratic ticket in the November elections.

Pontiac To Continue Leadership Says George S. Wagner

1962 Pontiacs Exhibit New Styling

"PONTIAC intends to continue its leadership of the medium price class in 1962 with an imposing line-up of new cars which are unparalleled in beauty, performance, handling, reliability and riding comfort," George S. Wagner, Pontiac dealer in Mount Pocono, said last night.

Four luxurious Bonneville models, two distinctive Star Chiefs and seven cars in the lower priced Catalina series comprise the new line, he announced.

In detailing the car's new features Wagner pointed to all new styling, improved V-8 engines, extended lubrication limits up to 35,000 miles, a Circ-L-Aire heater standard for all series, more rugged suspension and smoother operating Hydra-Matic transmissions.

"Exclusive new styling both inside and out conveys a dramatic prestige look throughout all thirteen new wide track models," Wagner declared. "A spectacular V-shaped front-end, sweeping side sculpturing, an expansive rear end design and new custom roof styling — resembling convertible top design on sports coupe models — are major contributions to the car's exciting new exterior appearance," he revealed. "Further enhancing car beauty are new Pontiac Magic-Mirror finishes of durable, high gloss acrylic lacquer — available in fifteen eye-appealing solid colors and a wide assembly of two-tone combinations."

Completely new Pontiac interiors, according to Wagner, are designed for the ultimate in operator and passenger comfort, safety and convenience. Richly appointed instrument panels feature cushion pads and distinctive ornamentation for each series. Attractive seat coverings of Jewel-tone Morrokides or pattern cloths and genuine leather are color keyed to harmonize with exterior finishes. All models include deep loop pile door-to-door carpeting.

Power for the new line is supplied by Pontiac's renowned Trophy 425 engine. The big 389 cubic inch V-8 is offered in a broad selection of model variations with horsepower ranging from 215 to 348. Standard with synchromesh transmission in Catalina and Star Chief models is an 8.6:1 compression ratio engine. An 8.1 engine with four-barrel carburetion is standard with synchromesh in Bonneville. Both standard engines as well as the 425E economy V-8, a no-extra-cost option with Pontiac's Hydra-Matic transmissions, can operate on regular fuel.

The longer new Pontiacs, with the exceptions of the three Safari station wagons, measure 211.6

inches in the Catalina series and 218.6 inches in the Star Chief and Bonneville series. The Safaris have an overall length of 212.3 inches. Heights range from a low of 54.5 inches with sports coupe models to 56.9 inches for the Safaris. All new Pontiacs measure 78.6 inches in width.

In the Catalina sedan, hardtop and convertible models the wheelbase has been extended to 120 inches. Star Chiefs and all Bonneville, except the Safari, are built on a 123 inch wheelbase. All Safari wheelbases measure 119 inches.

Series Highlights
Pontiac's new 1962 Bonneville series, offering the ultimate in luxury, performance and riding comfort, is available in two-door sports coupe, four-door Vista hardtop, convertible and four-door, six passenger Safari station wagon.

Standard "extras" include the four-barrel carburetor Trophy 425 engine; elegant seat upholstery of rich pattern cloths, Jewel-tone Morrokides and genuine leathers; new instrument panel featuring full length brushed stainless steel combined with genuine walnut inlay for a rich custom designed appearance; instrument panel cushion, passenger assist rail, courtesy lamps, dual ash trays and electric clock; custom steering wheel, dual-bulb tail lamps and deluxe wheel discs.

Bonneville are readily identified by exclusive full car length side moldings, gold block letter series names on the left grille, front fenders, and lower rear end panel, and by gold and white enamel crests located on the rear fenders and under the grille series name.

New Star Chief models, a four-door Vista hardtop and four-door sedan, offer big car comfort with outstanding road performance. Attractive interiors of colorful pattern cloth and Jewel-tone Morrokide, distinctive instrument panel with electric clock and dual ash trays, custom steering wheel, dual-bulb tail lamps and deluxe wheel discs are among standard Star Chief equipment.

The perennially popular Pontiac Catalina, distinctive with its clean cut simplicity of styling and ornamentation, features seven different body styles for 1962. Comprising the versatile series are a two-door sports coupe, four-door Vista hardtop, two and four-door sedans, convertible and four-door six and nine-passenger Safari station wagons.

The Catalina is equipped with many standard items usually offered only with the industry's higher priced models. Among outstanding Catalina values are: the high performing Trophy V-8 engines with two-barrel carburetor, electric windshield wipers, Circ-L-Aire heater, eye-catching interior trim with door-to-door carpeting and a cushioned instrument panel with distinctive ornamentation.

For the first time, Pontiac offers optional with Catalina sports coupe and Vista models a special Ventura interior featuring Jewel-tone Morrokides.
All new models will be lubricated with a special grease during assembly, permitting extension of the chassis lubrication interval up to 35,000 miles under normal driving conditions. The crankcase oil drain interval at new car driveout is advanced to 4,000 miles under favorable conditions.

TOP PICTURE is the attractive addition to Pontiac's new Tempest Series for 1962. The superbly styled convertible is with the LeMans option, which includes front bucket seats and floor carpeting. Below the Tempest is Pontiac's ever popular Catalina four-door hardtop which becomes more impressive in 1962 with an entirely new front and rear end design, a crisply styled roof and 15 new paint finishes that harmonize with new and glamorous interiors. Fabulous Pontiacs for '62 can be seen at George S. Wagner Pontiac Sales and Service in Mt. Pocono.

Ford Changes Picker Lines

THE adage "experience is the best teacher" is proved often in farm equipment design. One manufacturer, Ford Tractor and Implement Division, gives as its reason for changing the design of its highly successful corn pickers, its experience gained from observing the performance of its machines at the National Mechanical Corn Picking Contest.

D. W. Sawyer, assistant general sales manager in charge of field operations for the Ford organizations, says, "We live by a motto borrowed from 4-H, which is 'Make the Best Better.'"

"Our new line of corn pickers is an excellent case in point. Our pickers have come in first in the National Mechanical Corn Picking Contest for the past two years, yet, with ever-increasing corn yields, we felt that greater picking capacity and higher shields to save every possible ear of corn would be a further improvement to an already superior machine."

"In our opinion, that is the kind of engineering progress that makes sense to every farmer," he added.
The 1961 Ford corn pickers have a new look. Rounded corners, a wider flare to the outside flanges of the gathering points, a higher center shield above a longer, more tapered snout and deeper snapped corn elevators give them increased attractiveness and improved performance.

The rounded corners and four additional inches at the top of the center shield prevent loss of ears which would otherwise fall to the ground as the machine brushed against stalks in passing.

Three inches more flange flare and the new snout ease the flow of down crop into the gathering chains.

Picking capacity is greatly increased by deepening the snapped corn elevators two inches to permit delivery of more corn to the husking bed.

An enlarged husking bed with 12-gear-driven rolls to provide clean husking under the most difficult conditions is incorporated in the two-row picker.

The new pickers continue use of Ford's unique snapping roll arrangement with the upper end of one roll almost directly above the other roll. This placement snaps ears to one side, allowing them to fall directly to the elevator with a minimum of shelling.

It also provides space for "corn saver" pans to catch what little corn is shelled. To get more low-growing ears and harvest those from down stalks, the upper roll is lengthened by seven inches.

Three roller-type gathering chains, snap roll clearing levers, hooked spiral rolls with quartz sleeves for the lugs, and cleaning fans are standard equipment for the Ford corn picker.

Optional are the 12-roll husking bed, plain and rubber snapping rolls, a drive kit to adapt the picker to 1,000 RPM tractors and a vertical pivoting wagon elevator for use with the 12-roll husking bed.

Other improvements include a new, fast-acting slip clutch adjustable to varying loads, a swinging wagon hitch for turning ease and improved interchangeability, allowing use of the snapping units with a cross conveyor, a husking bed or a sheller unit for harvesting, picking or picker-shelling.

Ford corn pickers are engineered for use with Ford "901" and "6000" tractors and can be adapted to fit most competitive tractors.

See Ray Price, Inc. in Cresco, Local dealer, for full information and a look at the new Ford Corn Picker.

One By One
IF YOU feel that the cost of repainting every room in your house is more than the budget can stand, why not do a room a month? The cost of quality paint for redecorating the average room runs about $10, depending, of course, on its size.

With modern, odorless, quick-drying latex paints, you can start in the morning and enjoy your new room that afternoon.

Fit For Kings
CERAMIC tile used to be a luxury item. It once was so precious that only kings could afford it. But today ceramic is competitive with other quality building materials. Because it is durable and easily maintained, it is extremely economical compared to materials with lower initial cost.

Stencil Cornices

DECORATING tip: A cornice can do more than camouflage the curtain rod; it can be a highlight of the window dressing and be an interesting feature of the entire room. A stencilled design makes the big difference. All you need to stencil any type design is the stencil itself—ready made or your own pattern cut out of cardboard—masking tape to hold it securely in place, a stencil brush and paint. The decorations on cornices can range from gold leaves for a formal room to a scattering of daisies atop yellow dotted swiss curtains in a little girl's bedroom.

Tile Oldest
OF ALL building materials, few are older than ceramic tile, which dates back more than 70 centuries. Yet no material is enjoying a more remarkable growth today than ceramic tile. During the 1950's, annual shipments of glazed and unglazed ceramic wall and floor tile increased many times over because of real tile's increased acceptance in all parts of the home—baths, kitchens, counters, entrances and patios in particular.

CLAY pots provide their own cooling system to keep plant roots comfortable in overheated houses. Moisture is drawn from the soil through porous clay pot walls by evaporation and this has a cooling effect on the soil and roots.

Water Gap PTA Receives Seal Charter

There was a splendid attendance at the PTA meeting, held in the schoolhouse Tuesday night, Mrs. Donald Nase reported.

The speaker for the meeting was Roger A. Dunning, superintendent of Elementary Schools of Stroud Union. He stated that the Water Gap school is one of the best equipped schools in the Union.

In listing the gains and losses in Union District this year, he said there is no elementary workshop for boys. There is no art teacher and temporarily there are two part-time music teachers. This is due to the resignations of former teachers in art and music. He stressed the value of the reading consultant, listing her qualifications and explained how she helps the teachers with children's reading. He reported that Miss Eloise Bryant, Stroud Union psychologist, has received a certificate for private practice of Psychology. Stroud Union School District, through Miss Bryant's work, has qualified for The American Board of Psychology Service.

During the business session it was reported that the treasurer of the PTA, as directed at the last meeting, had given $115.85 to the teachers — Mrs. Alys Morfon and Mrs. Lillian Marshall—to purchase books or records as needed for the school.

Mrs. Anthony DelCampo, of the membership committee, reported 27 members have joined this year. Mrs. Richard Widdoss announced that a blanket letter would be sent by the ways and means committee to each home of school pupils to create interest in the finances of the PTA. Other plans are for candy selling, card party and doughnut sale.

Mrs. Louis Smolak of the banking committee stated that banking by the children will start Monday, Sept. 25.

Mrs. Willard Jennings, of the program committee, gave the following list of programs: Oct., Mrs. Meleikoff, President of Monroe County PTA Council; November: Children's Aid Society; December: Children's Christmas Program; January: Film "Dangerous Stranger"; February: Joint PTA; March: Mr. Harrison, Music Teacher; April: Nomination of officers, Kindergarten teachers Mrs. Farleigh and Mrs. Pyle; May: Installation of officers and evaluation of programs.

A milk program for the school was requested. Action was tabled until more information can be secured.

The members were notified that the local by-laws have been approved and a charter and gold seal were received.

After the business session, the parents introduced themselves. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Edward Funk, chairman of the committee, assisted by Mrs. Willard Jennings.

The Fall meeting of the Monroe-Pike Deanery, Scranton Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, will be held at St. Joseph Church, Matamoras on Oct. 1. Mrs. Michael Chopko will preside at the meeting which will begin at 2:30. Registration opens at 2 p.m.

Robert C. Oliver, associate director of the Pennsylvania Mental Health Assn., will be the guest speaker. Oliver is a psychologist, social worker. He has served on Msgr. George A. Kelly's Cana Conference Committee for New York City and has been a member of Cana panels and seminars in many parts of the United States. He is a former member of the committee on Family Life of the National Welfare Conference.

Oliver received his BA from Scranton University, his master's degree from Fordham and has done work on his doctorate at Fordham and New York University.

He will speak on "Catholics in Married State."

Msgr. C. A. McHugh is dean and Rev. William Cusick spiritual moderator of the Deanery.

Billy Baujan and Danny Flood

Two Mothers Share Room Boys, Birthday Party

Three years ago, Mrs. John Baujan and Mrs. John Flood were room-mates in the Monroe County General Hospital, on the Maternity floor.

William, "Billy" Baujan was born September 11 and John "Danny" Flood arrived the following day.

Each year they celebrate their birthdays together. This year the party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Flood.

The guests topped off a picnic lunch with the serving of two surprise birthday cakes trimmed with three candles each.

Vanessa and Claudia Besecker and John and Billy Baujan won prizes during the games.

Other guests included: Mrs. Irene Besecker, Dawn Marie

The bride, escorted by her father, chose a gown of white satin peau de soie with appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace on the scalloped portrait neckline. The pleated side panels formed panels on the skirt and the bustle back skirt fell to a chapel train. Satin and lace rosettes held her fingertip veil of imported French silk illusion. Her Bible was covered with white lace which held a single white orchid and Stephanotis and trailed streamers of Stephanotis.

Kathleen Reimer, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Her gown was fashioned of aqua silk organza and she carried a cascade arrangement of pink roses with green and yellow chrysanthemums and eucalyptus.

Miss Patricia Mayer, sister of the groom, Mount Bethel, Miss Mary Anne Dutt, Bangor, Miss Stephanie Weidman, Portland, and Mrs. Charles Ericsson, Stewartsville, N. J., were bridesmaids. Their gowns were silk organza, two in shrimp and two in aqua. Their bouquets of chrysanthemums and eucalyptus.

Besecker, Mrs. Mamie Wilson, Billy's grandmother; Mrs. John Baujan, John Baujan, Jr.; Vonne Baujan and Deborah Flood.

When I received my giant size "aspirin tablet" (that isn't an aspirin tablet) in the WVPO mailbag the other morning, Farley Manning Associates started something that has given them for more publicity than they'd ever had received had they merely written a letter explaining their gift and its use. First, I mentioned my puzzlement on the air. Then I wrote a column about it. As a result, I've been confronted countless times today by curious men as well as women, asking, "Have you discovered yet what the pill is for?"

As a matter of fact, I do know... now. But I didn't discover the answer for myself. I was informed when an entire package arrived, with the exciting news enclosed. I've even put my gift to a test, through the courtesy of Blanche Mackey and our Frigidaire washing machine here at Wyckoff's, and I can tell you it's called SALVO, and is a new home laundry detergent that Blannie describes as "just wonderful."

I mentioned the delightfully sweet, fresh fragrance of the "aspirin" yesterday, I believe. Today I can tell you that the clothes, fresh from Frigidaire automatic and Salvo, have that same pleasant scent, even though they were tossed about in the heat of a dryer. Each tablet of Salvo is round and palm fitting, measuring about two inches across and weighing about two ounces. It contains just the right combination of special ingredients to produce a cleaner, brighter wash, and it's the simplest thing in the world for a busy homemaker to toss just one Salvo circle into a front loading washer, or two into a top loader. No measuring fuss... isn't that something?—therefore no wasted time, soap powder, or pennies, and always just the correct amount of suds.

The clothes Blannie laundaged had been in my office gathering dust for some time, and were not chosen to make things easy for Salvo. Quite the contrary! A few of the pieces had been packed away for a long time and were discolored. One knit shirt had to be washed in tepid water. Blanche tells me the Salvo instructions indicated it would take the tablet longer to dissolve in cool water, but that it did disappear completely and quickly, leaving no residue to cake upon the clothes.

One more thing I might add is that Salvo is a Procter and Gamble product. This in itself is an assurance of quality. Some names—like our own Wyckoff name for instance—are as good as gold... the only thing one actually needs to know before giving a product ones' vote of confidence.

We do not sell Salvo at Wyckoff's, and, not being a grocery, I doubt that we will. But we are interested in women... and in their homemaking problems. That's why we're happy to pass the benefits of our research along. We DO, of course, sell Frigidaire — the finest washing machine, in our opinion, in which a Salvo tablet could ever go to pieces!

Bobbled Punt Helps

Eagles Have Tough Time Getting Past Skins 14-7

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer.
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles needed the help of a fumbled punt to defeat the Redskins 14-7 Sunday in a National Football League game before 50,108 at Franklin Field. With the score tied 7-7 in the third quarter King Hill of the Eagles boomed a punt 53 yards that the Redskins punted safety Low Luce of Penn State bobbled. Defensive end Will Renfro recovered for the Eagles at the Washington 25.

On first down Sonny Jurgensen directed Tommy McDonald in the end zone and fired a strike to the fleet flanker-back, who grabbed it from the outstretched hands of defenseman Ben Scott. Bobby Walston kicked his second extra point and the defending champions had their second victory.

Faked Out Two
Earlier in the period, Jurgensen directed the Eagles to a 7-0 lead on a 52-yard pass and run play to Pete Retzlaff, the rugged end. Retzlaff caught the ball about the Redskins' 40, faked out two defenders and raced into the end zone.

Philadelphia's lead held up only for 18 seconds when quarterback Norm Snead, on the first play after the kickoff, hurled a perfect pass to end Fred Dugan, who raced for a touchdown. The play covered 80 yards.

John Aveni, who failed on two field goal tries during the 85-degree afternoon, converted to make it 7-7.

Snead, highly touted rookie from Wake Forest who fizzled in the Redskins losing opener last week against San Francisco, was a standout Sunday. The 215-pound quarterback demonstrated poise and the ability to pass pro style as he completed 13 of 29 for 225 yards.

His prime target was Dugan, a four-year veteran who caught six for 168 yards.

Jurgensen completed 10 of 27 for 188 yards and both Philadelphia touchdowns.

Buckley Wins Indian Mtn. Club Crown In 30 Holes

KRESGEVILLE—Tom Buckley, two-down after nine holes, Sunday, rallied to defeat Robert Snyder of Palmerton, 7 and 6 for the club championship at Indian Mountain Golf Club.

Buckley of Lansford, the defending champ, caught Snyder on the 18th hole of the 36-hole match and then won six of the final nine holes, to end the match on the 30th hole.

A great chip shot ended the match. Buckley was faced with a 45 foot chip but ran the ball to within 18 inches of the cup for a "gimme."

Other flight results, all over an 18-hole route.

1st flight — Andy Schiavone, Bangor def. Henry Kresge, Lehigh 4 and 3.

2nd flight — Tom Foley, Jim Thorpe def. John Tockash, Pen Argyl 6 and 5.

6th flight — Duane Lohb, Pen Argyl def. Sherwood Stancovich, Pen Argyl 4 and 2.

Suffering their second setbacks were Pittsburgh, losers to the New York Giants 17-14; the Washington Redskins, who gave the Eagles a battle before bowing 14-7, and Los Angeles, defeated by Chicago in a Saturday night encounter 21-7.

The Giants fell back on their greyhounds to edge out the Steelers, Quarterbacks Chuck Conroy and Y. A. Tittle each pitched a touchdown toss and kicking specialist Pat Summerall booted a 19-yard field goal.

Field Goal Win

Jim Martin's 49-yard field goal, his third of the game, gave Detroit its victory over the Colts in a battle of defenses before 54,259 at Baltimore. The Colts had taken a 13-13 lead with their lone touchdown earlier in the final period when Martin made his winning kick with 3:11 to play.

Willie Woods' 39-yard scoring punt return in the second period broke a 7-7 tie and the Green Bay Packers went on to whip San Francisco. Paul Hornung contributed three field goals on boots of 13, 43 and 15 yards, and also plunged for a touchdown.

Lou Groza hauled his 37-year-old frame off the bench in the final minute, kicked a 19-yard field goal, for the Browns in an injury-riddled contest. The Cardinals jumped to a 14-point lead in the first half, with Sam Echeverry hitting Sonny Randle with five and seven-yard touchdowns passes before the Browns could get started.

Don Meredith ran 20 yards for one touchdown and passed 19 yards to Amos Marsh for another in the Dallas victory over the Vikings. Don Perkins sped 47 yards to set up the first Dallas score. The Vikings scored in the second period as Tommy Mason rammed over from the 4.

Lewis Turns In Top Job In 45-0 Win Over Bears

By CURT PRINS
Sports Editor

FOR TWO YEARS, East Stroudsburg State College quarterback Billy Lewis has been a step away from stardom. Saturday he took the final step.

The 5-10, 175 junior from Bristol scored two touchdowns against Kutztown and passed for another, as the Warriors crushed the Golden Bears, 45-0.

Lewis also guided the Warriors to a "400" game (400 or more yards in total defense). East Stroudsburg picked up 277 yards on the ground and 142 more in the air.

On the defensive side, East Stroudsburg held Kutztown to 26 yards on the ground and 38 in the air. That gives the Warriors a two game defensive rushing average of 25 yards.

Kist Calls Cavs' Defensive Show Worst In 8 Seasons

IN less than a week, East Stroudsburg High School has gone from Lehigh-Northampton League football favorite to the loop's cellar.

And it was a brilliant Pen Argyl team that shoved the Cavaliers to the bottom of the heap Saturday, with a 25-6 win at Weona Park.

Cavalier coach Jack Kist called it the worst beating his team has taken in several years and the poorest defensive game in eight seasons.

"It's the first time in many years that we were beaten so badly," says Kist, "that another team used its third against us."

Kist refused to blame the 90 degree heat or any other outside factor for the loss.

Thundered Over

"Pen Argyl simply thundered over us," said Kist, "we were out football." "We just went

Homer Spoils No Hit Bid For Donovan

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Washington's Dick Donovan pitched hitless ball for 6 1/3 innings Sunday and then retired the last eight men he faced en route to a one-hit 4-1 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Joe Altobelli spoiled Donovan's bid for a no-hitter when he cracked a home run over the right field fence. Prior to that only three Twins had gained first, two on walks and one via an error, and one man had hit the ball out of the infield.

Donovan struck out only six, but had the Twins hitting the ball into the ground in picking up his 10th victory in 19 decisions.

The Senators got all the runs they needed in the fourth when four singles netted two runs off starter and loser Jim Kant (9-16).

Engler Brilliant

Terry Engler, who ran from tailback in the single wing and halfback in "T," whipped through around and over the Cavaliers and scored two touchdowns. The first was on a six-yard run, the second was on a four yard slant.

Rick Cortez added an 11-yard touchdown sweep and Gary Heard had a two-yard touchdown plunge. Engler ran for the only extra point.

With 2:24 left in the same period, the Roxbury, N.J. sophomore, who did not play football in his senior year of high school because of a serious leg injury, returned a punt 55 yards for a touchdown.

Match Race

The last 40 yards of punt return was a race between Barkman and Kutztown's Bob Lauser, an Allentown Allen graduate. Barkman won by four yards.

The conference victory cost the Warriors in injuries. Art Shisler, Russ Rogers and Tom Washburn were the most serious casualties.

Shisler suffered a possible broken right hand in the first half. X-rays were taken at Monroe General Hospital Saturday night and a wet reading indicated that there were no major breaks. However there will be another reading today to see if there is a hairline fracture.

Rogers twisted his right knee, also during the first half, when East Stroudsburg built up a 26-0 lead. Washburn was the victim of a blind side block that tore a leg ligament. Rogers and Shisler are starters in the interior line, while Washburn is a reserve fullback from Belvidere.

Barkman, who was bothered by boils and a severe cold, which doctors say may have been pneumonia, did not play in the second half but it was only because Warrior coach Jack Gregory wanted to rest him.

Giants Edge Pitt Behind 3 Old Men

By JOE BRADIS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Chuck Conerly, Pat Summerall and Y. A. Tittle, a trio of graybeards, led the New York Giants to a 17-14 triumph over the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday in a National Football League game under a blistering sun.

Conerly and Tittle passed for one touchdown each and Summerall kicked a 19-yard field goal and two conversions to give the Giants their first NFL victory of the season. It was the Steelers' second straight loss.

Interference penalties led to both Steeler touchdowns, one in the first quarter and the second in the third period.

The Steelers almost pulled out a victory in the waning moments, only to see second-string quarterback Rudy Bukich fumble after hitting on his first and only pass for 28 yards to John Henry Johnson on the Giant 26.

Loose Ball

Two plays later Bukich was hit by Andy Robustelli and fumbled. Jim Kotwage picked up the loose ball and ran 28 yards to the Steeler 23 where the Giants ran out the clock with about a minute left.

The Steelers, aided by a pass interference penalty and a 38-yard toss by quarterback Bobby Layne to Buddy Dial, scored with 24 seconds left in the first quarter on a one-yard run by Johnson. The drive covered 37 yards in five plays.

New York stormed back late in the second quarter to knot the score at 7-7 on a 16-yard toss from Conerly to Del Shofner, capping a 65-yard drive.

A 59-yard run by Alex Webster and a seven-yard punt by Bob Gaiters set up Summerall's field goal in the third period.

The Giants added the clincher as Tittle came off the bench and completed four straight passes, the last for five yards to Joe Morrison in the end zone.

Giants Stall Cincy's World Series Chance

By HAROLD HARRISON

CINCINNATI (AP) — The troubles San Francisco Giants erupted for nine runs in the fourth inning Sunday and again stalled Cincinnati's drive toward a National League pennant with a 12-5 victory.

Orlando Cepeda hit a grand slam home run in the Giants' big inning. It was his 43th homer of the season and second grand slammer of his career, both hit this year. Jim Davenport also homered for the Giants.

About the only thing the Reds had to cheer about was Frank Robinson's 36th homer, coming in the sixth.

The victory closed out Cincinnati's home season and the crowd of 29,272 brought the season's total to 1,117,603, the second largest in

Catty Kept Bangor Bottled-Up In 13-0 Win

By Arnon Williams
Daily Record Sports Writer
THE Slaters of Bangor High were able to mount only one scoring threat that petered out on the Catusqua 12 yard line Saturday afternoon, as a defense-minded Rough Rider eleven downed the Maroons on the winner's field 13-0.

sons on the Bangor side of the field, which was exposed completely to the heated rays.

Longer Injured

The Bangor force also had one player, Dave Longor, regular Junior end, as an injury victim. In colliding with numerous players in a pile up Longor suffered a brain concussion and was taken to an Allentown Hospital. He was released Sunday. Coach David Pritchard reported that he may return to the squad on Wednesday. Two members of the squad, Bill Yeager, starting halfback and Ned Oyer, second string end are recovering from fractured legs.

Catusqua scored in the first several minutes of the game, following the Bangor kickoff. The Slaters Sherwood Heard kicked to the Catty 38 yard line, where Fred Haney was stopped without an advance. On the first play from scrimmage, Stan Rex found a hole up the Bangor middle and ran to Bangor's 17 yard line before being hauled down by Gary Vough, Bangor guard, who with Denny Holland, Bangor center made the stop after an advance of 42 yards.

Haney added seven yards off end and Walt Zirinsky made it a Catty first down on the four. Zirinsky made three yards in two tries and Haney punched over for the touchdown on the one. The placement try was blocked by the Bangor forwards.

Changes Made

In the third quarter, with the ball changing hands via fumbles but connected on fourth down for the TD, when Fehnel found

Dan Murtaugh free along the side lines, pitched a strike and the big end went the distance. The attempted placement was blocked but the Slaters were off sides and penalized. On the second try Haney spotted Murtaugh free and the score stood at 13-0.

Bangor asserted its defensive strength in the fourth quarter when it stopped a Rough Rider scoring threat four times inside the three yard line.

The Slaters almost made a punt, but the Rough Riders started a second drive from the 50. Marking with first downs on the Bangor 30 and 16, they were again in scoring position. The victors were penalized five yards for backs in motion; lost three yards on a running play to the 27, had a pass knocked down

London Paper Supports Nehru

LONDON (AP)—The London Observer suggested Sunday that Prime Minister Nehru of India should become temporary secretary-general of the United Nations, filling the gap left by Dag Hammarskjöld's death.

The newspaper said Nehru was one of the very few names the Soviet Union—preoccupied with its troops for the post—might not put for political reasons, wish to oppose.

It added: "At such a grave crisis in the world's affairs, an unprecedented step such as this may be the only appropriate one."

Nine Electrical Firms Are Sued

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Nine electrical manufacturers convicted this year of price-fixing and bid-rigging were sued by the United States government Friday for damages for alleged overcharges in the sale of insulators.

The civil action in the Federal District Court was the eighth damage suit filed by the government as a result of the giant conspiracy in the heavy electrical industry.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said in Washington that the nine defendant firms, many sued before in the previous actions, make nearly all the insulators manufactured in this country.

Kennedy said the amount of damages claimed was not specified in the suit because the Justice Department is still analyzing government purchase of insulators during the time of the conspiracy.

Named as defendants were General Electric Co., Schenectady, N.Y.; Lapp Insulator Co., Leroy, N.Y.; I-T-E Circuit Breaker Co., Philadelphia; A. B. Chance Co., Centralia, Mo.; McGraw-Edison Co., Elgin, Ill.; H. K. Porter Co., Inc., Pittsburgh; Ohio Brass Co., Mansfield, Ohio; Porcelain Insulator Corporation, Lima, N.Y.; and Joslyn Manufacturing and Supply Co., Chicago.

Dear Abby

Get Going, Son...

Dear Abby: I am 19, in the Service in Korea and in trouble. I have less than four months to go here, but I almost hate to go home. I have been writing to two girls back in the States who expect to marry me when I return.

I have dated both of them, but have never discussed marriage with either one. (But I did get carried away in some of my letters.) One of the girls wrote that she will be "ready" when I get home. I would like to know what she will be ready for. The other girl wrote that we could live with her parents until I get a job and we could get a place of our own. Both girls are attractive and intelligent, but I don't want to marry either one. What do I do now?

APO #20

DEAR APO: Since you "proposed" to both girls by mail, you had better do some creative writing fast. Tell them both that because marriage is a permanent step, before they make any plans they should wait until you get home. Put a chill on both deals now, or when you get home, the quiet of Korea will look good to you.

DEAR APO: You brought up an interesting subject in the case of the husband who refused to wear a wedding ring. I think all married people should be forced by law to wear identification of their married status. Then single girls would not be taken in by two-timing husbands, and vice versa.

DEAR MARCIA: Legal gimmicks are no substitute for conscience and morality. A wedding ring doesn't always stop the "circulation."

DEAR APO: I agree with your reply to Mrs. Citizen that "Many mothers, in their well-meaning eagerness to make their daughters popular, encourage them to grow up too fast."

MARCIA

Thank heaven my mother was wiser than that. I am 18 and am a freshman at college.

When I started my teens I was far from the first girl in my crowd to wear make-up, nylons and heels. I didn't get to go to all the parties and was never Miss Popularity or anything near it. At first it bothered me, but I soon found out there were more rewarding things, such as the faith my parents had in me to live by their high standards. I don't smoke and they know I won't. I don't drink and they trust me not to start. They never doubt my word because they know I wouldn't deceive.

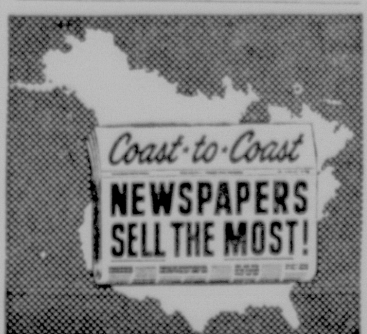

Advice is very good, Abby. I am glad I never had to ask them. Although I think your for it.

Love,
BONNIE

What's troubling you? Write Abby, care of Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif. Include self-addressed stamped envelope.

Civil Service Exams Set For Various Medical Posts

HARRISBURG — State civil service tests for resident physician, clinical assistant, chemist II and III will be held Nov. 18, the State Civil Service Commission announced.

Ralph D. Tive, SCSC executive director, said applications will be accepted until October 27. Jobs range in pay from $5268 to $10,432.

Candidates for resident physician in Department of Health hospitals throughout the State will not be required to take a written test. Their ratings will be based on the experience and training reported on civil service applications.

Applicants for chemist II, III and clinical assistant will be scheduled for written examinations at one of the following cities: Allentown, Altoona, Clearfield, DuBois, Erie, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and Williamsport.

Applications for clinical assistant and resident physician will be accepted from residents of other states. Tests for those applicants will be administered within their own state.

Applications may be obtained from the State Civil Service Commission, Third Floor, South and at any of the following offices: Bureau of Employment Security; Pennsylvania State Employment Service; Liquor Control Board and State Stores.

Cancer Prevention Survey Being Made In Pennsylvania

ONE IN 88 Pennsylvanians will soon be checked on to see if he is still alive.

If he is, the American Cancer Society volunteer researcher who calls will ask him to fill out a confidential form telling how he has been for the past two years, whether he smokes, and whether he lives or works in polluted air.

If he has died in the past year, his death certificate will be checked for cause of death. If cancer was the cause, his doctor will be asked for specific information on the type and progress of the disease.

These questions and answers about the state of health of 98,922 people in the Pennsylvania Division (all of the State except Philadelphia and Montgomery counties) are part of the second-year checkup on 1,100,000 Americans who are subjects of an epidemiological survey by the American Cancer Society.

Researchers in Monroe county will check on and give questionnaires to 538 people in the county. Their headquarters will be the American Cancer Society Unit office in Stroudsburg.

Called the Cancer Prevention Survey, the six year study will give facts never before available showing how family history, begins at 8 p.m. and continues until 11 p.m.

foods, smoking and air pollution are related to cancer. Scientists hope to get clues from these facts which will lead to earlier finding of cancer, and ways of preventing the disease.

Volunteer researchers—6,212 of them in the Pennsylvania Division—will start October 1 to make this second annual checkup. Preliminary work is being done now at the Pennsylvania Division and local American Cancer Society Unit offices to prepare for the survey. IMB cards with the names of each person in the survey are going to county offices now, and kits are being prepared for researchers.

The largest epidemiological study ever attempted, the ACS Cancer Prevention Survey was made financially possible only by the fact that volunteer researchers originally distributed the survey questionnaires, and are making the annual checkups the Society said today.
